DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-14 and 16-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese Patent 62-278377 (JP '377).

JP '377 discloses an assembly and method of making a multistage magnetic fluid seal comprising a shaft 11 having plural trapezoidal ridges 1a, a permanent magnet 13, and first and second 12 pole pieces each having plural trapezoidal-shaped ridges (adjacent 2a) along an inner diameter. The ridges of the pole pieces are spatially opposed to the ridges of the shaft to form a close, non-contacting relationship. The relationship defines a radial gap that receives ferro-fluid to form plural stages. Each ridge has a top plateau that diverges to an annular region at an angle between 0 to 180 degrees.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claim 15 is allowed.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record taken as a whole does not show nor suggest the combination of limitations required by the claims. JP '377 fails to show that the flat top portion of the ridges (on both the shaft and pole piece) faces the radial gap that defines the stage. Rather, JP '377 shows the stage and radial gap formed between top and side portions of the ridges. In other words, JP '377 does not show that the ridges on the shaft and pole piece are aligned so that the radial gap/stage is defined between the aligned top flat/plateau portions of the ridges. And, there does not appear to be any motivation absent applicant's own disclosure to modify the prior art in the manner required by the claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments and the Declaration of Dr. Zhixin Li filed 6-24-05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The rejection of Black in view of EP '656 has been withdrawn for reasons other than the arguments presented by Applicant and in the Declaration, for at least the product claims. Upon further consideration, the examiner determined that the combination of Black in view of EP '656 would not create the invention as claimed because EP '656 does not appear to teach a square ridge as an art equivalent with a trapezoidal ridge (compare Figs. 7 and 8 of EP '656). Figure 8 appears to show that the entire inner surface of the pole piece would be modified, not just the little ridge such as that shown in Figure 7. Thus, it doesn't appear that the combination/modification would result in the plurality of trapezoidal ridges required by the claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
